SCHOOL GRADES.

Result of Examination for the Fifth Month.

The fifth month of school closed
Friday, January 27, 1911.

In the examinations held in J.
B. McClure's room the following pupils made the required grades to have their names published in your paper:

Spelling.

Those receiving 100 per cent.—
Sadie Baldrige, Sue Bromley, Margaret Brown, Kizzie Clay Burns, Dixie Byington, Elizabeth Conley, Louise Crutcher, Vivian Hays, Bessie Hewlett, Eunice Marcum, Vel-ma Norton, Lucille Roffe, Helen Vinson, Agnes Abbott, Irene Crutcher, Gus Snyder, Paul Copley, Roy Copley, Howard Highberger, James
Hughes, Marshall Meloy, Homer
Yates, Charlie Ferrell, Willie Vaughn.

Sections in Spelling—James
Hughes' section, five points ahead.
Sections in U. S. History—Emma Norton and Roy Copley, captains.
Emma Norton's section won by two points. Roy Copley was sick and out of school part of the month which I believe made some difference in the result.

Sections in Arithmetic, Class I.
Dixie Byington and Leon Bromley captains. Dixie Byington's section won by three points. Leon Bromley was out part of the last week of the month on account of sickness which may have made some difference in the result.

Sections in Arithmetic, Class II.
Kizzie Clay Burns and Gus Synder captains. Kizzie Clay Burns' section was ahead three points.

Sections in Grammar—Sue Bromley and Marshall Meloy captains.
The sections in Grammar "tied" for honors.

The examinations in Reading are based upon two selections—one in prose and one in poetry.

The selections have been studied and read in our school, attention having been given to pronunciation and meaning of words, emphasis,
punctuation, inflection and modulation &c.

Were not such selections made there would be but few names to appear under the subject of Reading.

Arithmetic Class I surprised me
(agreeably) in good grades.

Arithmetic Class II disappoints me in grades made, but I expect better results next examination.

port:

appeared last month in Arithmetic
with a grade of 92 per cent.

Kizzie Clay Burns' section in Arithmetic was one point ahead of Gus Snyder's section.

Dixie Byington's section in Arithmetic was two points ahead of Leon Bromley's section.

Mr. and Mrs. Bert Shannon are

Rockcastle. Mr. Shannon is store
